About Jon Sexstone, Managing Director PURE Co

Jon Sexstone is Bristol born and bred. His father, Colin Sexstone, is the former Chairman of Bristol City Football Club and has a long heritage in the city.

With this background of sporting insight and personal passion for his hometown, Jon founded PURE Co in 2005 to offer event management and hospitality services with an emphasis on sport. PURE Co has been delivering inspirational experiences to large corporate brands and their clients across the country ever since.

Now that PURE Co is an established national brand, Jon is looking to bring his expertise in event management back to Bristol, to deliver experiences in the city that win hearts and wow customers.
